

Russia Trying to Smash New U. S.-Jap Treaty

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union is trying harder than ever to smash Japan's new security treaty with the United States. Red China, East Germany, North Viet Nam and North Korea joined the campaign today.

Only 24 hours after a hot exchange between Moscow and Tokyo over the pact, a 17-member Japanese delegation left for Moscow today to negotiate a new salmon fishing agreement with the Soviets. The negotiations present a new opportunity for Soviet pressure on the Japanese.

Japan wants an 80,000-ton quota for her fishermen in Soviet-controlled North Pacific waters for the season of 1960. The Soviets probably will knock that figure down. In five years they have reduced the quota from 183,278 tons to 85,000 tons in 1959.

Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in an article written for the Feb. 1 issue of Peiping's magazine "Red Flag," said the new U.S.-Japan treaty "marks the revival of Japanese militarism."

East German Deputy Premier Heinrich Rau now visiting North Viet Nam, in a joint communique with his hosts denounced "American imperialist attempts to turn Japan into a military base for aggression."

North Korea's Pyongyang radio reported "mass meetings condemning the recently concluded Japan - U.S. military alliance treaty" are being held in factories and other establishments.

The U. S. Japanese treaty signed Jan. 19 provides for mutual assistance in an attack on Japan. It is still to be ratified by the Japanese Parliament and is a fierce political issue here. But the Soviet campaign to stir up anti-American sentiment may backfire.

A Soviet note published Thursday charged that ratification of the treaty would mean that Japan loses its independence and would be a puppet state.

SUPPORT SMALL — MOSLEMS, CARRYING a French flag, stand facing an insurgent-held barricade during a French war veterans' demonstration in Algiers. Veterans paraded to the Casbah, their flags flying, and called on Moslems who formerly served with the French Army to join them in a show of unity. Not more than 100 Moslems, mostly young men, responded. Reason given for French failure to enlist Moslem support was that Moslems need to work to eat and the general strike has paralyzed the city since Jan. 24. Also, there was faulty organization and lack of sufficient notice. — NEA Telephoto

Flurries of Snow Fall in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flurries of snow descended on portions of northeast Arkansas today as a new cold wave marched into the state.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock had reports of very light snow at Paragould, Jonesboro, Walnut Ridge, Black Rock, Alicia and Blytheville.

At some points, the snow was mixed with rain. The flakes were not sticking to the ground in the majority of places.

The mass of cold air spreading into Arkansas promised lows of 20 to 30 degrees throughout the state tonight. Today's highs were expected to range from the 30s in the north to the 40s in the south.

Talks Against Supervision of Television

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation would be turning its back on democracy if the government should start decreeing what is good for the people to see on television, CBS President Frank Stanton said today.

Testifying before the Federal Communications Commission, Stanton said that if imperfections have shown up in TV, "the problem is not peculiar to broadcasting."

"It inheres in the whole of our system of democratic government and way of life," he said. "We are constantly exasperated by the seeming lumbering and stumbling of the frustrating imperfections."

Hope and Smackover get together here tonight in district games that could well decide the fate of each team. Smackover is actually the district favorite despite the fact the Fairview Cardinals are undefeated in four league games. Hope's record is 3-1 and Smackover's is 2-1.

Bucks have talked a 643 point average in three games to lead the league while limiting opponents to 50.3 points. Hope, in four games, has scored 513 point average while limiting opponents to 43.2 points per game.

The Bucks beat Camden 64-38 and Hope beat Camden 64-38. So you see the Bucks have have their work cut out tonight.

The Hope Juniors are leading the league with four wins while the Smackover Juniors have a 1-3 record. The locals have scored 139 points to 103 for opponents in four games.

According to City Police records in December 21 persons were arrested for drunkenness and seven for driving while intoxicated. Ten speeders and eight hazardous drivers were caught. Eight actually the district favorite despite the fact the Fairview Cardinals are undefeated in four league games. Hope's record is 3-1 and Smackover's is 2-1.

The Charles Clark listed in this week's court docket is not Charles Ray Clark, son of Bryan Clark of Hope.

The deadline for buying auto tags and driver's license is Saturday, Jan. 30. The line may be 30 to 35 so you see the Bucks have have their work cut out tonight.

Negroes Are Charged in Liquor Case

TEXARKANA — Four Negroes, arrested by Hempstead officers, have been turned over to federal liquor agents and charged with possessing and transporting moon shine whiskey.

Leroy Williams Jr., Hope, Riley Williams of Hempstead, Willie Lee Driner of Hope and Louise Burns of Prescott, waived hearing on Thursday before U.S. Commissioner Thelma Winham. Bonds were set at $300 apiece.

They were arrested Wednesday about seven miles south of Hope on a county road by Officers Shirley of the Hope Department and State Trooper Ward who found three gallons of moonshine whiskey in their car.

Entertainment Planned at C of C Dinner

The Ivy Mitchell family of Hope will occupy a 15 minute entertainment spot on the program featuring Gov. Orval Faubus' address at the annual banquet of Hope Chamber of Commerce set for next Tuesday night in Hope.

The Mitchell family will be featured in several spiritual numbers, following the recognition of guests.

Others having parts on the program will be John Wilson, retiring president of the chamber and Fred Ellis, the new president. The Rev. L. T. Lawrence will give the invocation and benediction — a custom that has been followed by the Ministerial Alliance of Hope.

Klipsch & Associates will provide dinner music for the occasion. An attractive menu has been prepared and will be served by Joda's, a catering firm of Hope.

An elevated platform was being constructed by Gunter Lumber Company for the speaker's rostrum and honored guests. Circuit Judge Lyle Brown will be master of ceremonies.

The program gets underway at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory building and will continue about two hours. Gov. Faubus will speak at 8:30 and is expected to talk on the industrial expansion of Arkansas. It will be his first major address in Hope.

Ray Turner, in charge of the over-all banquet arrangements, said that ticket sales already had passed the 300 mark, assuming the largest crowd ever to attend a C of C banquet in Hope.

Additional seats and tables were being moved into the Armory building to take care of a capacity crowd of 500 — if that many tickets are sold. They are available at the C of C office at $2.50 per person at a first-come, first-served basis. The event is open to the public.

Church Executive Dies in Indiana

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP) — Dr. Clarence W. Hatch, 57, executive secretary of the Executive Council of the Church of God, died today, according to a statement from the church.

Dr. Hatch was executive director of the denomination's division of world service 21 years before taking his latest job last July. He spent 12 years as pastor at Forrest, Ill., Salem, Oregon and Woodburn, Oregon, before joining the church headquarters staff.

Committee May Soon Call Out Rights Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee, which has been perched on a civil rights bill since last summer, may spring it loose for House action.

A legislative maneuver sailed a discharge petition might yank the bill out of the committee before long if the group doesn't get it moving.

By acting on its own, the committee could retain some control over the timing of House action and the parliamentary procedure to be followed. This would include such things as limitations on debate.

A Senate debate on civil rights may start around the middle of February. Action there could be stepped up considerably if the House had passed a bill.

Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) of the House Rules Committee said Thursday his group will meet Monday to consider pending legislation. He included the civil rights measure in that category but didn't predict what action might be taken.

Smith, along with virtually every other Southerner in Congress, is opposed to the bill.

The pending bill would make it a federal crime to oppose, with force or threats of force, court orders providing for the integration of Negroes and whites in public schools. It also would require local voting officials to preserve their records and show them on demand to federal officials.

Rubber Firm President Visits State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The president of Seiberling Rubber Co., visited Gov. Orval E. Faubus today and thanked him for enabling the firm to locate a proposed branch at Batesville.

T. K. Seiberling of Akron, Ohio, was accompanied to Faubus' office by William P. Rock of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Rock said Seiberling was working on details of the plant. Faubus summoned a special session of the Arkansas Legislature to obtain laws which would make location of the new facility possible.

The Legislature last week passed bills to legalize the issuance of revenue bonds against rents to be paid by industries.

At Batesville, where Seiberling visited yesterday, a Chamber of Commerce official said the Ohio firm was considering the installation of a $1,500,000 plant. Earlier, cost of the plant had been put at $1,300,000.

A routine court suit to test the validity of the new bond legislation is expected to be filed in Independence Chancery Court.

Preston Grace, chairman of the Batesville Chamber's industrial committee said the test suit might not be filed for another 10 days.

Grace quoted Seiberling as saying the company wanted to complete discussions on locating a costlier plant.

Over 200 See One Act Opera Friday Night

More than 200 people braved the elements Thursday night to attend the one-act opera, "Sire de Maledroit," presented at the Hope High School under the auspices of the Friday Music Club.

Gilbert Thomas' portrayal of the hero Dennis Beauvais, brought thunderous applause from the audience for the outstanding vocal rendition he gave to the part.

The deep melodious tones of Earl Davis won hearty approval for his portrayal of the title role. An erratic vocalized failed to mar the lovely soprano solos of the heroine, Blanche, sung by Alverne Huley Sanborn. Joseph Carmody conducted the cast with her capable interpretation of the duenna, Madame Carre. The brilliant piano accompaniment was performed by Lene Struve.

Sung in English, the opera was based on a story by Robert Louis Stevenson. The music was composed by John Duke and the libretto by Dorothy Duke. The musical director was Helen Rollin Marshall.

Algeria Virtually in Hands of Insurgents, French Crisis Mounts

Publisher Is Named Police Commissioner

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today appointed Fred M. McCollum, publisher of the Forrest City Times Herald to the State Police Commission.

He took the occasion to criticize persons he said interfere with State Police operations.

And he added some critical comment about what he said was the professional conduct of some of the Policemen themselves.

The governor said that he now has a good Police Commission, all of whose members were appointed or reappointed by him.

McCollum succeeds Jim Hale of West Memphis, whose term expired Jan. 14.

Faubus said then he wouldn't reappoint Hale, who was named to the commission by former Gov. Francis Cherry, but he delayed announcement of a successor until today.

Speculation recently had centered on McCollum and John Brunner, a Marked Tree businessman.

Faubus was asked at his news conference why the appointment had caused so much concern.

"Too many district and county politicians," he said, "are trying to have too much to do with the State Police and are making very difficult for them to do a job in the proper manner."

"Of course, we welcome help, assistance and information. But I'm afraid that some of their efforts are more in the nature of interference than assistance."

Faubus said some of the interference is caused by policemen themselves.

"I put a stop to ticket fixing, but there is still too much of it, being attempted," he said.

He said some troopers might call one tow service for all accidents.

"Other patrolmen may be stringent in enforcing the laws on some people and not so stringent on others," the governor commented.

"Sometimes we find that a patrolman is sitting around the court house too much instead of being out on the highway."

"Now if we start to move that patrolman to some other area and put him to work down comes all his friends and the politicians from that county to put pressure on us to leave him there because they like him."

Howard County Native Dies in Dallas Friday

Wayne McDunkins, aged 62, native of Howard County, died on Thursday at his home in Dallas. He had lived there for the past 19 years. He was a member of the Saratoga Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Maggie McDunkins, five sons, Leonard, Gordon and Thomas McDunkins of Dallas; Frank of Arlington, Texas and Richard of Hurst, Texas; three daughters, Mrs. V. D. Walker of Denver, Mrs. Joe Yauquez of Dallas and Mrs. Francis Bell of Mineral Springs, his mother Mrs. Lyle McDunkins of Saratoga, two brothers, J. R. McDunkins of Saratoga and Ira McDunkins of Fort Worth, three sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Tolson of Texarkana and Mrs. J. O. Fincher of Saratoga and Mrs. A. M. Sanders of Stratford, Texas.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Saratoga Church of Christ by M. H. Peebles and they will continue in the Saratoga Cemetery by Luther F. Finner.

The new construction has been formally approved by the Arkansas Public Service Commission and other regulatory bodies.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Bonarc-B interceptor missile, which failed on five previous flights, was launched today. It was the first such launching in three months.

The 47-foot rocket darted from its pad, pouring a trail of white smoke from its solid-fuel engine. It vanished quickly in a heavy cloud layer.

The Bonarc-B test program began last May. None of its five earlier flights was successful, reportedly because of valve trouble in the ramjet engines.

Technicians feel they have solved the problem since the last launching in October.

There was no report on the performance of today's missile.

Moslem Rebels Muster Forces for a Showdown

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle said tonight he has given the French army a direct command to restore order in Algeria.

By ANDREW BOROWICZ
ALGERS (AP)—French insurgents virtually "look over" Algiers today in their battle to keep Algeria French.

The Moslem rebel leadership, fighting for independence, mustered its forces for a showdown in between the two contending forces. President Charles de Gaulle strove to make his position felt and threaten his government and its language on this strategic North African island.

The rebel government-in-exile called via Radio Tunis for Moslems in the 500,000-man French army to desert to the nationalist guerrilla forces. It urged the nine million Moslem civilians, wooed by both de Gaulle and his rightist French foes, to sit tight for the present.

At the same time the nationalist command, pursuing its five-year war for independence from France, ordered all rebel army units to remain vigilant. In case there is need to protect the civilian population of Algiers, or in case there is an attack by the insurgents.

But the insurgents were untested masters in Algeria, the capital, with the departure of de Gaulle's two key men in Algiers for a countryside command post to get away from the immediate pressure of the uprising.

The representatives are Delors and Boudiaf.

W Power to Build Electric Line in Okla.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Southwestern Electric Power Co., of Shreveport, will build a 101,000-volt power line between Springfield and Bixby, Okla., a distance of 40 miles.

The transmission line will end at Springfield in a new substation. The company estimated total cost of the two projects at 1½ million dollars.

Marvin Murphy, Fayetteville division manager, said the substation will be named E. J. Dyess Station in honor of the man who was Fayetteville division manager from 1943 until his death in 1957.

The new line will tie onto the 101,000-volt Arkadelphia line near Beadmont. The Arkadelphia line runs from Markham's Ferry Dam in Oklahoma to Lake Catherine and Ashdown, Ark.

J. Robert Welsh, Southwestern president, said the new line and station were needed to increase power capacity in the Fayetteville area where power demands have increased greatly in recent years.

For example, Walsh said, 8,000 Fayetteville customers needed only 5,000 kilowatts of electricity in 1945 while 16,411 needed 40,500 kilowatts in 1959.

The new construction has been formally approved by the Arkansas Public Service Commission and other regulatory bodies.

Philanthropist Gives Away Cash at Spa

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Morris Morgenstern says he is giving away a million dollars a year.

The 70-year-old New York philanthropist has distributed $7,000 in the last two weeks while a patient at a hospital here.

"My prayer is to be able to give away all my millions before I die," Morgenstern said yesterday after he had given $200 to the Hot Springs Mothers' March on Polio and $2,500 to the Leo Levi Memorial Hospital, where he is being treated for bursitis.

Morgenstern, who came to this country from Austria at the age of three, said he has given away three million dollars in the last three years.

He did not say exactly how many millions he has.

He started selling newspapers on the streets of New York, then made a fortune in the banking, financial and mortgage business. He wrote his checks on the Morris-Morgenstern Foundation of New York, an organization he says was organized to help him give away his money.

He said the money is going to worthy causes, "without regard to race, creed or color." He contributed to several charities in Hot Springs and a number of churches, both white and Negro.

"Good work is the only requirement I make," he said.

Commission Sets Backbone of Program

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission has set the backbone of its primary and secondary roadbuilding program for the next three years.

The commission yesterday programmed 35 million dollars worth of construction projects, some of which will not be finished before 1964. Added to projects already planned, the new program covers almost 50 million dollars worth of road work.

The program is flexible and minor changes may be made and new jobs added.

Federal interstate highway building is not affected by the long-range program. These jobs will be planned separately. But all other highways in Arkansas, both those bearing federal and state numbers, are covered.

The long-range program was the suggestion of F. R. Oliver, who became highway director last year. He said it would be more practical than planning projects for short periods as had been done previously.

The six Highway Commission members received Oliver's plan at a December meeting. They studied it for a month and adopted it unanimously yesterday.

U.S. Highways 64 and 65 are scheduled to receive the largest share of the allotment for primary roads. Work is planned on about 41 miles of Highway 64 in Crittenden, Cross, White, Johnson, Franklin and Crawford counties. Highway 65 is scheduled for more than 25 miles of improvements in Desha, Van Buren, Sevier, Boone and Newton counties.

Estimated cost of the Highway 64 work is $3,753,000. Highway 65 costs are figured at $2,575,100. An additional $439,500 is allotted to Highway 65 in Pulaski County under the secondary system program, presumably because the mileage on which work is to be done will be replaced eventually by a part of a new interstate route.

Rail Union Breaks Off Negotiations

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen said today it has broken off pay negotiations with the country's railroads.

J. L. Ellis, vice president and chief negotiator for the union, said the talks had been futile.

The brotherhood represents 60,000 locomotive firemen. Ellis said in a statement the railroads had not made any kind of offer to the union either in direct negotiations or in recent sessions conducted by the National Mediation Board.

Ellis said he expects the board to offer to arbitrate the dispute. If that fails, a spokesman said, the next steps would be a strike vote and then intervention by a fact-finding board that would be appointed by President Eisenhower.

The brotherhood seeks a 11 percent wage increase. Pay varies by classification. Currently a passenger fireman has daily minimum earnings of $19.54, and certain firemen in freight service have a minimum of $21.83.

The rail lines have demanded changes in old working rules to eliminate what they call feather bedding.

Tight Money Seems to Be Accepted Now

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American businessmen seem to be charting their course today with tight money as an accepted thing rather than a hazard.

A good part of this calm attitude is due to the favorable cash position of many corporations. They—especially the larger ones—can finance their plant and equipment—spending themselves this year without having to borrow.

Part is due to a growing belief in banking circles that the worst of the money squeeze is over and that interest rates needn't rise much higher, if at all. A sizable minority doesn't go along with this view.

And part is due to the expectation that increasing business activity will supply customers with the wherewithal to pay their bills on time and thus ease the collection problem that usually accompanies tight money.

This optimism on the part of many in business isn't echoed by would-be government borrowers. And home builders still have their doubts. State and local agencies seeking funds to finance public facilities find the money market much too tight for comfort.

So do many small businessmen. But few of the larger companies are expressing concern.

Of 278 manufacturing executives queried by the National Industrial Conference Board, only three percent expect to cut back their capital spending this year because of tight credit or higher interest charges.

This is largely because 90 percent of them plan to finance new plant and equipment spending out of their companies' own resources, built up during the tight cash controls in recession days. But a number note that their capital spending this year will be quite modest.

Nearly two-thirds of the executives doubt if tight money will slow down collections of their accounts receivable.

But the credit policy of federal agencies is having an effect on the practices of many companies. Many report they are studying their credit policies and tightening up their collection efforts. This way they hope to forestall any trouble that tight money might cause later this year.

Some are aiming at conserving cash by tightening control over inventory investment. Others are searching for increased efficiency in production. In both cases they say that the object is to stave off the need to go into a tight money market for funds.

Rejected Suitor Goes on Shooting Spree

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—A rejected suitor today shot and critically wounded his former girlfriend and her parents and then killed himself.

William Funicello, 42, Levittown, N.Y., put the final bullet of his .22-caliber revolver into his head.

Taken to the Jersey City Medical Center where they were placed on the danger list were: George Athanas, 57, a waiter; his wife, Beatrice, 50; and their daughter, Bessie, 33.

Police said Bessie had broken off with Funicello at the insistence of her parents because he is married and the father of two children.

Ike Leaves for Weekend in Sunshine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Eisenhower left by helicopter today for a long weekend of golf in Palm Springs sunshine.

His big 'copter took off from his overnight headquarters at the Beverly Hilton Hotel for the 1-hour trip to La Quinta resort area near Palm Springs where he will stay.

The President traveled in a big green and white Marine Corps helicopter, first of four to lift off from a parking lot near the hotel. His traveling companions were Freeman Gosden, Amos of Amos 'n' Andy radio fame, and President C. S. Jones of Richfield Oil Co.

The other helicopters carried press representatives, security people, and other members of the Eisenhower party.

A crowd of about 200 was on hand to wave farewell to the President, who flew here Wednesday from Washington for a speech launching the Republican political campaign. Before he left, Eisenhower spoke to a closed breakfast meeting of southern California Republican leaders.

Eisenhower headquarters at La Quinta are at the home of an old friend, Washington businessman George E. Allen. It was there that the President spent eight days last year basking out a cold in the dry desert air.

Eisenhower intends to leave La Quinta Sunday afternoon and travel by jet airliner to Denver, where he will spend the night. On the way West, the President stopped briefly to leave his wife, the first lady is visiting her ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will start back to Washington from Denver Monday morning.

Boy Scout Court of Honor Held

Boy Scout Troop 81 held their court of honor on Sunday at the Methodist Church.

Scoutmaster Don Mitchell welcomed visitors and called on Leonard Graham, District Scout Executive to lead in the pledge of allegiance.

Light's were extinguished and Committee member John Teeter Jr., lit a candle, representing the scout of the scout, God, self and others. He then lit 12 candles which represented the 12 scout laws. Mr. Graham explained each candle and its meaning.

Scoutmaster Mitchell explained the work each boy must do in advancing from Tenderfoot Scout to an Eagle Scout.

John Teeter Jr. assisted by Rick Stewart, committee member, awarded Tenderfoot second class, first class and merit badges. Mr. Graham awarded Star Scout to Reed Ship, assistant patcher to Bill McDonald and Bill Enves.

These boys received advancement from Tenderfoot to First Class and merit badges.

Frank Anderson, Paul Campbell, Joe Escarre, Reed Ship, James Teeter, Johnny Shepe, Homer Purdie, Sammy Cruise, Bill Eaves, John Ed Watkins, Ronnie Brown, Tommy Lee, Jackie Harvey and Richard Oates.

Mr. Mitchell awarded Wally Pittman the highest award in scouting, the Eagle Scout Badge, to his son, Mrs. Dan Pittman Jr. was awarded an Eagle Scout, given mothers of Eagle Scouts.

P. A. Escarre took pictures of the ceremonies and the meeting was closed by Rev. Alfred DeBlack, who is troop instructor representative.

which seem to mark so much of our society.

"The process is slow, indecisive, and untidy. We have labor strife. Products are sometimes shoddy and cost too much. Newspapers sometimes are sensational and superficial. Basic issues—even of survival—take too long to resolve. Trains don't run on time.

"But are not, after all, these problems the hallmark of our democracy? Totalitarian governments are not faced with them. But that is simply because those governments do not have to consult with the people."

Stanton pictured the industry as constantly striving to put a better product before the public. But he emphasized his belief that this is a matter which must be handled through contact between broadcasters and the public—not by government dictation.

Stanton appeared at FCC's hearings on possible lighter controls over broadcasting after NBC Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff had told the commission that abuses in broadcasting, such as rigged quiz shows and payola, have been eradicated by industry action.

Like Stanton, Sarnoff urged that the industry be given continued opportunity to regulate itself.

DOROTHY DIX

Her Divorce Pending
Hubbie Wants to Come Home!

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband has lived with a girl all summer. Now he says he knows he can't find another wife as good as me and wants to come home. All that's left in making our divorce final is to pay the remaining $250.00 to the lawyer. I have met a fine man who is anxious to marry me. He wants to go to church with me and my three children, which my husband never did and still won't. My children like the new man but they miss their father and are overjoyed every time he talks about coming to see them. — Belwit

Dear Belwit: Unless you sincerely love this new man, count 10 before marrying him. Church-going isn't everything. No matter how fine he may be, he's not the father of your children. Many a husband strays. If yours means what he says, it would better for you and the children if you took him back.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a strange problem. Sunday night after my Luther League meeting, my uncle came to pick me up. On the way home he pulled up along the country road, cut the motor, and took me in his arms. This shocked me, but then on top of that he kissed me very hard, and proceeded to tell me he loved me. I asked him if he was crazy and he said, "What? Crazy for loving you?" When I got home, I didn't tell Mommy or Daddy or my aunt. I thought I'd first write to you. My uncle is about 21 and I am almost 14. — Truly Confused

Dear Truly Confused: Your problem, though unpleasant, isn't new. Handle it yourself, if you can, rather than precipitate a family row. But give your uncle to understand that next time he makes a scandalous pass, you'll tell. His kind should be drummed out of town. He doesn't know what real love is.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 21 years old and in love with a handsome young man who says he's Dean Martin's cousin. He loves me too. My sister says he is lying. Should I forget him and go out with other boy? — Lonesome

Dear Lonesome: Your sister is probably right. Any boy who lies

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

THE STORY: Orrin Applegate has been asked to handle a personal injury suit by Gideon Weeks, proprietor of a medicine show in Syracuse. The case involves a boy, attached to the show, who was hit by a wagon.

CHAPTER XVII

Madam looked from Lissie to me with arched brows. One could see that she was not pleased.

"Is this true, Orrin?" she asked. "Not exactly," I told her. "I've been asked by their Mr. Weeks to take a personal injury case on a contingent basis."

"But you have not bound yourself?"

"Not, Madam, until I have investigated the evidence carefully."

"Madam Cissie," Lissie said with vast sobriety, "Orrin always can be relied upon to look before he leaps. There's no fun reading a story when you always know what's going to happen in the next chapter." Her temper suddenly was up, as happened sometimes so unaccountably. "Orrin Applegate," she said sharply, "do you have to be a model young man? If just once in your life you'd do something unexpected, like — like getting in a fight or cutting up a couple!"

"One fibbertigibbet in a neighborhood is enough," I retorted. Madam seems to be distracted.

"I wonder, Orrin," she said, "if you would escort me across the street." She glanced around the company half humorously. "A small matter of business upon which I wish to consult my attorney."

After we had crossed the street and mounted Madam's porch, the door was opened to us by the butler, Oscar. He was a strange-looking creature, and I marvelled that so dainty a person as Madam could tolerate him about her. I wondered if she knew how truly weird a servant she harbored, with his knife thrusting out in her back.

She led me into her little office and dismissed Oscar. "That will be all," she said to him. "You may go to bed, Oscar."

He stood still and expressionless, his pale eyes staring before him, turned on his heel and withdrew. Perhaps I made some inadvertent remark. I even suspected. At any rate, Madam became aware of my aversion for the man.

"Oscar," she said, "tailed to make a happy impression. But it has qualities. Orrin, I do not know what I would do without him."

She bade me be seated and then she leaned forward a little with earnest face.

"Orrin," she said gravely, "you can learn the law in 300 books. You can commit to memory 300 laws, and statutes. You can be lectured in fact in every printed word, but had I considered her advice worth that does not make you a lawyer."

I waited. This was a strange gala General Paul Delouvrier, the civil administrator, and Gen. Maurice Challe, the military commander in chief. They were first reported to be at Blida, 26 miles southwest of the city. Today word circulated that they had set up headquarters at a French air base near Raghala, five miles closer to Algiers.

An official of the City Council announced over Radio Algiers that "the people" had occupied City Hall.

Thursday night Delouvrier, ostensibly with De Gaulle's backing, called on the Moslems to rise and demonstrate their faith in De Gaulle and their support of his policy to let all Algerians eventually decide their own future.

The insurgents, who insist that Algerians remain forever French, declared through a spokesman: "We will fight until victory."

Paratroops remained in the capital — still under a state of siege — but they made no attempt to prevent the insurgents from strengthening their barricades.

The French-language Press of Algiers, freed from censorship, openly supported the insurgents' demands for the immediate proclamation of Algeria as a French province without giving the Moslems a chance to vote.

Delouvrier, in an emotional broadcast Thursday, appealed to the insurgents not to take any action that might bring about the secession of Algeria from France or the fall of De Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

Armed territorialists—citizens enrolled as militia who have joined the insurgents — roamed the city and seemed to have taken over City Hall.

Algiers newspapers published appeals to the half-million residents of the capital and suburbs to give money and gifts to help the uprising.

Blue-uniformed riot police held the white, modernistic government building towering over the city from Forum Hill—the scene of the riot last Sunday when the uprising started with the killing of 20 persons. The insurgents so far have made no attempt to take over the building.

The two major leaders of the revolt—Joseph Ortiz, a café owner and Pierre Lagallierre, a reserve paratrooper and parliamentary deputy—rejected Delouvrier's impassioned appeal to cease resist-should be written off. But to "give him the benefit of the doubt," he'd check the cousin relationship with Dean Martin himself. His address is Paramount Pictures, Hollywood, Calif.

Students Drifting Back to Little Rock

The school board last night assigned 28 new students to Central High. And Horace Mann High school, Asst. Supt. Paul A. Fair said about half of them were former students who had enrolled in private or other public schools while schools here were closed against integration during the 1958-59 term.

Fair said these 28 students had enrolled since the Christmas holidays. He said a larger number probably enrolled Monday, which was the beginning of a new semester.

Memphis Fearful of a Flu Epidemic

MEMPHIS (AP)—A flu epidemic may be developing here, the director of the Memphis and Shelby County Health Department, Dr. L. M. Graves, said yesterday.

The number of reported cases this month has climbed to 840, compared to 300 reported last January.

"The present rate of increase indicates a possible approach for an epidemic," Graves said. "Our reports do not show the specific type of influenza going around."

Hope Entertains Smackover Team on Local Court

Two Hope teams tangle with Smackover in conference games at Jones Field House tonight.

First game starts at 7 with Hope's Bobkittens meeting the Smackover Junior team.

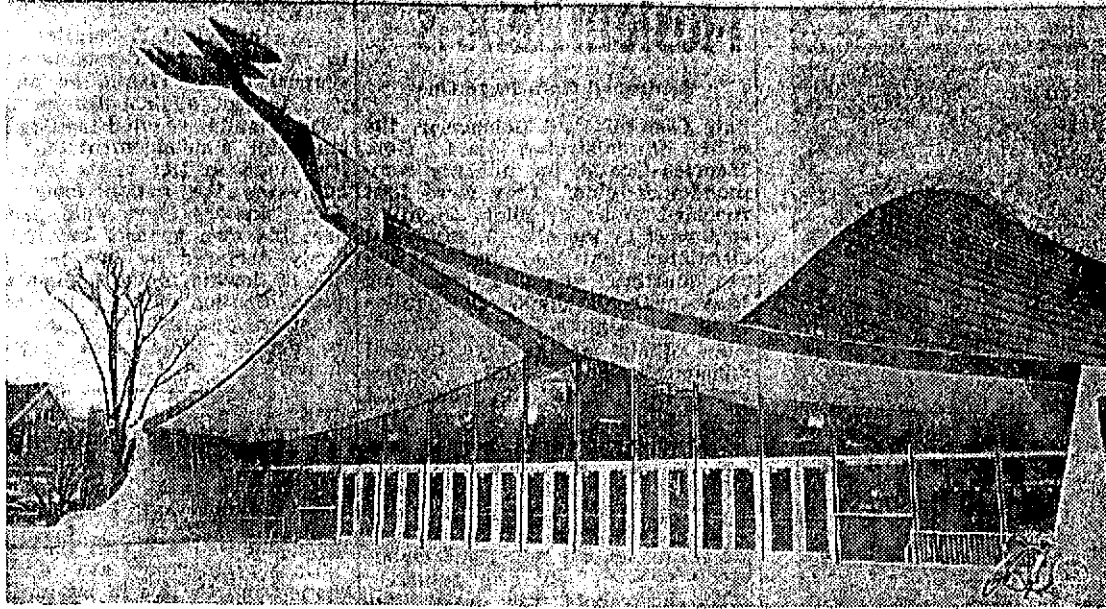

In the main game of the night the Smackover Bucks go against Hope's Senior Bobcats.

Smackover comes into the contest sporting a 3-1 conference record while the Cats enjoy the same record. The two teams are tied for second place in the conference and tonight's game will decide the second place. Fairview leads the conference with a 4-0 record.

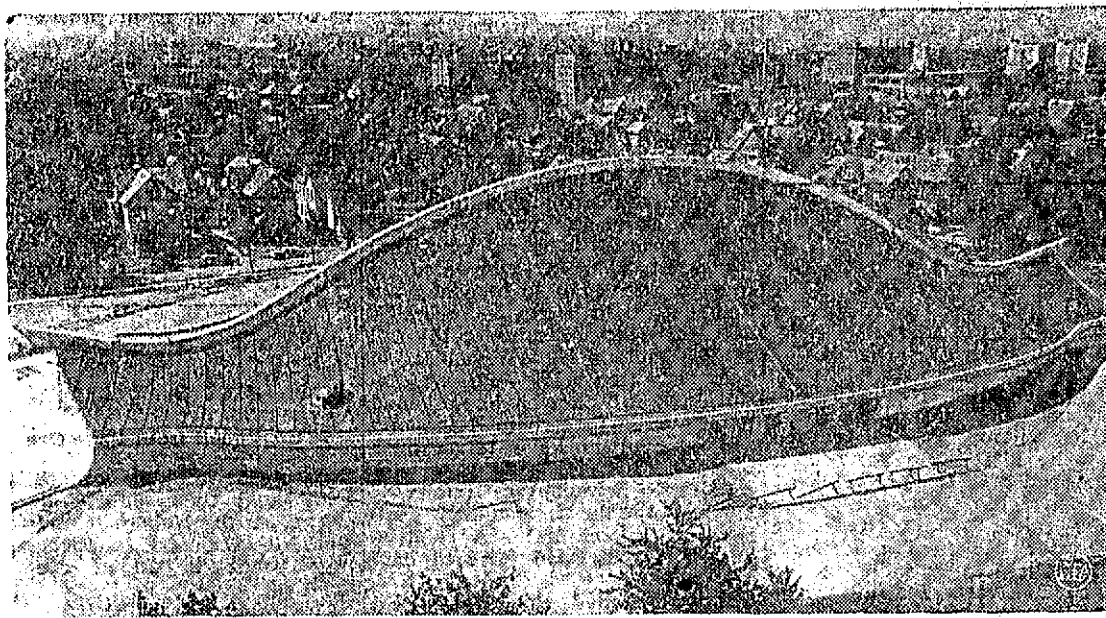

Sammy Barker, big gun for the Bucks leads all 4-AA scorers with 20 points.

Local fans will remember the Bucks from the Hope Holiday Tournament which they captured during the Christmas holidays.

Tonight's game is expected to be a thriller and a large crowd is expected.

YALE'S CAMPUS CENTER—This is the main entrance of the David S. Ingalls building on the Yale University campus in New Haven, Conn. The unique feature of the structure is a central concrete arch that forms the backbone. Ceiling planks, covered with black plastic, are suspended on cables like those used in a suspension bridge.

FOR MONSTER RALLIES—Looking somewhat like a prehistoric monster is Yale University's new hockey rink and activities center in New Haven, Conn. The structure, designed by Eero Saarinen, seats 5,000 for lectures, concerts and dances. Costing more than a million dollars, the building was financed by gifts from alumni and friends.

Two Fishermen Missing at Sea

WESTPORT, Wash. (AP)—Tradition was tempered with tragedy for a fishing boat and two of its three crewmen on the storm tossed Pacific Ocean off the southwest Washington coast Thursday night.

The fishermen stayed in dangerous, turbulent waters to aid four Coast Guardsmen in a disabled patrol boat. The fishing boat sank. Two of its crewmen vanished into the churning sea.

The drama began when the fishing vessel Barbara Lee called for help to get through huge swells at the narrow entrance to Grays Harbor. All day, winds up to 55 miles an hour had raked the coast. The Coast Guard sent the 52-foot patrol boat Invincible to guide the fishing boat across the bar. It was a familiar procedure: the Grays Harbor Bar is treacherous for small craft at all times.

Suddenly, a monstrous wave knocked the Invincible's bottom-

Porkers Return to Court, Lose to Tulsa Five

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Tulsa's Bob Goodall turned in the best performance of his career last night and the Hurricane romped to a 78-65 revenge basketball victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Goodall scored 10 field goals and eight free throws for 28 points—his college high—as Tulsa took its fifth victory against eleven defeats.

The loss set Arkansas' season record at 8-6.

Gene Estes and David Voss teamed with Goodall to make the game a sort of scoring duel among three players on each team. Estes had 19 points and Voss 13 as the trio accounted for 60 points of Tulsa's total.

On the Arkansas side, it was Jerry Carlton, the sensational sophomore, with 21; Clyde Rhoden with 18 and Ronnie Garner with 10 for 49 of the Razorback scores.

Tulsa led through most of the game. The count was 40-33 at intermission and twice during the second half Tulsa had a 19-point advantage.

Voss hit five straight free throws to run his consecutive string to 15.

When to Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

When to Fish or Hunt
By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Thought For The Day:
This world has cares enough to plague us; but he who meditates on others' woes, shall, in that meditation, lose his own — Cumberland.

Calendar of Events
Friday, Jan. 29
Division B Singing Union will sponsor a music clinic at the Garrett Chapel Baptist Church Friday, Jan. 29 at 7:30 p.m. C. G. Carmichael, president; Mrs. Dodie Colbert, music directress.

Sunday, Feb. 7
Mrs. Ola Ellis will sponsor a program featuring the Gospelaires at Mt. Cannon Baptist Church on Sunday, Feb. 7. The public is invited. Rev. J. C. White, pastor.

Sunday, Feb. 14
On Sunday, Feb. 14 at 4:30 p.m. there will be a Valentine Bazaar held in the home of Mrs. Mae Ella Caple of Blevins. Admission 10 cent single; 15 cents a couple. Sponsored by the Blevins-Irons Springs Community 4-H Club.

4-H Club Hold Meeting
The Blevins-Irons Springs Community 4-H Club met in the home of Mrs. Mae Ella Caple on Monday night. During the business session leaders for various demonstrations were selected.

Refreshments were served to 12 members and six leaders. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Augusta Maxwell on Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Obituary Notice
Mrs. Lottie Muldrew of McNabb died in a Texarkana Hospital on Wednesday, Jan. 27. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home Inc.

Wilbert Ellis of Fulton, died in a local hospital Wednesday. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home.

Paret Confident of Win Tonight
NEW YORK (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret is confident he will make it two straight over high-ranking Charley Scott tonight.

They meet in a return television (NBC 10 p.m., EST) 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

As a 3-1 underdog last Dec. 18, Paret, of Cuba, gave Scott a solid drubbing. Despite that victory, which included a 10th-round knockdown of the favorite, the muscular Cuban is an underdog again, this time at 7-5 odds.

It was a costly defeat for Scott. The hard-hitting welterweight was the No. 1 contender. Now he is ranked fourth by the NBA and Paret No. 6.

Fight Results

Newspapers Are Seized in Algeria

PARIS (AP) — Police raided homes and headquarters of right-wing extremists throughout France today and seized issues of five weekly newspapers carrying articles on Algeria judged to be inflammatory.

Roundup in the dragnet was a parliamentary deputy, Jean-Marie Le Pen, who has attempted to rouse Paris students into demonstrating in support of the insurgents in Algiers.

A retired air force general, Lionel Chassin, was picked up for questioning but released. Two years ago Chassin went underground to distribute antigovernment propaganda during the 1958 Algerian outbreak.

Warrants for the arrest of 80 rightists were issued by Paris Judge Robert Magnin. No names were given.

The predawn raids were carried out in Paris, Bayonne, Bordeaux, Toulouse, Lyon, Marseille, Lille, Montpellier, Rouen, Reims and other places.

Figures the Lord Was With Him

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — "Everybody said they didn't see how I got across. I know how I got across. The good Lord was with me."

Bradford Coleman, a truck driver from Hattiesburg, Miss., made those comments in giving account of what happened on the Luke Pontchartrain Causeway after a barge rained it Wednesday.

Coleman was driving a truck across the 24-mile span when the accident occurred during a heavy fog.

He said he could feel the span sinking under the truck, loaded with 25,000 pounds of groceries.

When Coleman finally reached safety on an adjoining section of the world's longest bridge, the truck was badly damaged.

Crewmen on the tug Clara Bell, which was pushing the barge, radioed to shore points to block the bridge approaches.

Bridge officials estimate repairs will take at least 10 days.

No Move to Draft Adlai Stevenson

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — James Doyle, a national figure in a proposed drive to draft Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, said today that there "will be no formal organization in that direction." But he didn't close the door on an informal move.

Doyle, a former Wisconsin party chairman, called a news conference after reports were circulated that he would become executive director of a national draft-Stevenson movement.

Instead he handed out a formal statement that said, in part: "There will be no formal national committee, no national headquarters, no executive director. 'There will be no campaign in the usual sense."

Doyle conferred with Stevenson in Washington last weekend.

Nothing will be done to impede the efforts of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who already have declared themselves candidates in Wisconsin's strategic April 5 presidential primary, he added.

News Briefs

SEVILLA, Spain (AP) — Ex-President Juan D. Peron of Argentina left by car today to visit Spain's Mediterranean "sun coast." An aide of the former dictator said he and his party of four will stay at a luxury hotel in Torremolinos, a resort town near Malaga, until a villa is found.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sydney sweltered today in a fourth straight day with temperatures above 100 degrees. The death toll rose to 16.

WOSPORT, England (AP) — Admiral of the Fleet Sir Arthur Power, 70, commander of the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal when she was sunk by a U-boat in 1940, died here today.

TOKYO (AP) — Japan charged today the Soviet Union interfered in its internal affairs by using threatening language to criticize the new U.S.-Japan treaty.

A foreign ministry statement said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow Wednesday "criticized Japanese policies in threatening language" in a talk with Japanese Ambassador Suetomitsu Kadowaki and demanded the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Japan.

ALGIERS (AP) — The U.S. Information Library today was plastered today with signs "Algeria will remain French" and "be wary of false news."

The library is on Rue Michelet, a main thoroughfare a short distance from the barricades set up by French insurgents.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's supporters today opened a drive to eliminate two of his three democratic opponents from the New Hampshire presidential primary ballot.

The Massachusetts senator's campaign aides challenged the legality of nominating petitions filed for TV cowboy singer Elton Britt of Damascus, Md., and Lar America First Daily, a perennially unsuccessful candidate from Chicago.

Kennedy's other rival in the preference poll, Sen. Paul G. Fisher, a Chicago gun manufacturer.

Bible Comment

'RELIGION'S WHAT MATTERS'

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

One would have to be very obtuse, and also completely isolated from his daily and Sunday news-papers if he failed to recognize the immense importance of sports affairs in the minds of a vast mass of the American people—interest intensified and exemplified by the TV connection.

My interest is in some religious aspects that appear, or that seem to be involved, I suppose an inevitable comment, especially to one brought up under an inhibitive and strict code of Sabbath, or Sunday, observance would be to the extent to which Sunday through sports events has become a day so largely devoted to sport and pleasure, where a generation or so ago it was generally regarded, at least in the U.S.A. and Canada, as pre-eminently a day of rest and worship.

It is obvious that so great a change could not have occurred in so relatively short a time if great numbers of people had not actively or passively tended to resist the religious or legal restrictions, or both.

I remember a ministerial friend in Ontario telling how his forebears had moved from the Ohio frontier to Canada because of the horse racing and similar Sunday excesses of the then frontier community.

But there is a deeper aspect to the reaction that has occurred from observance to laxity. I think much of it has come about because what I am inclined to call the artificial worship OF Sunday, rather than worship ON Sunday, was made of such importance in strict observance.

One incident I recall. I was visiting in a neighboring town, and on Sunday afternoon a friend came with a fine horse and buggy outfit to take me for a drive. The practice of my home and going on Sunday, and I politely declined the invitation.

I think I may say that it required a measure of moral courage to obey a dictate of conscience, but conscience should never have been put to such an absurd test.

I may now have become too libertarian in my outlook on life and conduct, but I have long felt that acts of sin and wrongdoing are too many, and too real, to set up artificial ones. Like all reactions, the reaction against strict Sabbath observance has gone a great deal too far—so far that for many Monday has become a day of listlessness, if not of rest, recovering from the excesses of Sunday.

Of a counter-reaction there is little real hope. Radio and TV, whatever their defects, have made Sunday more a matter of the home. Otherwise, I think the hope lies in a religious attitude toward life and, whatever else, there may be on Sunday the keeping of time (and place) for contemplation, worship, and devotion.

All is not lost if there is a vital purpose to keep something of what a day of rest and devotion ought to be.

But religion is what matters. A person without any is like a ship without a rudder and with no means of propulsion. Incidentally, a religion that inclines a man to association and worship

Lend Lease Deal May Be Future Plan

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet reaction to collapse of lend-lease repayment talks may provide a clue to Soviet intentions in other negotiations this spring, U.S. officials said today.

The United States broke off the talks Wednesday. It said the Soviet Union was insisting on getting U.S. trade and aid agreements as part of negotiations that were supposed to deal only with Soviet during World War II.

No bitterness was expressed at Wednesday's final session, and American authorities professed to see no big impact on other scheduled negotiations as a result.

But some said that the virulence — or lack of it — in any Moscow effort to blame this country for the impasse could give a hint of what lies ahead in a March disarmament conference and the scheduled May summit meeting.

The lend-lease parity was resumed Jan. 11 as an outgrowth of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's Camp David meeting with President Eisenhower last September.

What the United States wants is with his fellowmen, regardless of difference, is in my judgment a very good religion.

Union Sheriff Is Contest Winner

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Sheriff O. E. Bishop of Union County won the contest of the marching sheriffs for the March of Dimes.

Bishop arrived here yesterday, half an hour before Ouachita County Sheriff Grover Linebarger reached El Dorado.

Bishop and Linebarger began negotiating the 30-mile distance between their towns Monday. Each advanced one mile for each $100 contributed to the March of Dimes in his town.
